Glenelly is the third gorgeous work of #LiquidArt to be revealed. Be sure to watch the PIWOSA story of #LiquidArt unfolding on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram where a beautiful series of 'Wine Still Lifes' created for each of the eleven PIWOSA members is being revealed: one winery at a time.

Glenelly Estate's work of #LiquidArt for CapeWine 2018: South African wines with a French touch in a world-class winery, producing award-winning wines with power, elegance and balance.

Says owner May de Lencquesaing: “It has always been my dream to craft the finest Cabernet Sauvignon blend outside of France. At the grand age of 78, I finally discovered Glenelly Estate, in the heart of the iconic Stellenbosch, the ideal place for my vision to become reality. Selected from the highest and coolest vineyard slopes, these grapes confer to Lady May elegance, exceptional depth and ageing potential. This wine is my legacy.”

When asked what the greatest love of her life is, May replied “Art, in all its forms – painting, sculpture, architecture, music and wine of course! Without art there is no civilisation.” Winemaking is not the only form of art showcased at Glenelly where the winery is also home to many other works of art, including May’s remarkable Glass Museum which houses her valuable and exquisitely beautiful collection of glass pieces from around the world.
